

WANTS PUBLIC BATHS DREDGED AND IMPROVED

Hollinger Gets Approval of City Planning Commission for Expenditure of $30,000

Plans to improve the public baths by dredging the bathing place, and erecting a new two-story building were outlined today by Ben F. Hollinger, chairman of the committee on parks, schools and playgrounds from the supervisors.

Hollinger outlined his plans at the meeting of the city planning commission and had them sanctioned. He stated that he intends to bring the proposition before the supervisors by the end of the year when the budget of expense is prepared. As proposed in this preliminary suggestion the dredging will cost approximately $15,000, and the new building $15,000. Material taken from the dredging work will be used to level up places in Kapiolani park.

Modern in every detail, the new building will be constructed with a concrete base and the upper part will be of wood. Mr. Hollinger stated that the first story could be used as a rest room and the second story for dancing.

Planting in Thomas Square. Mr. Hollinger also asked the commission to consider the grounds at Thomas square with a view to planting new trees alternately with the old ones, as those which have been in the park for many years are beginning to show signs of dying before long. Many of them have been badly eaten by worms. The commission promised to investigate the matter.

Harry Murray, general manager of the city water department, submitted figures showing the amount of water that will be necessary to supply the Japanese fountain soon to be placed at Kapiolani park. The commission after a study of the figures decided to have a two-inch pipe on the fountain. Eight men and a luna will be put to work next Monday planting mahogany trees from the experiment station in the curbed plots on Kalaheka avenue. Mrs. F. J. Lowrey will have supervision of the work.

Only one more meeting will be held this year owing to the press of extra work before the Christmas holidays. This meeting will be on next Monday and will be given over to a definite rounding out of all the work so far started by the commission.

JAPANESE WHO SAW CORONATION RETURN ON CHIYO

Returning from the coronation ceremonies of Emperor Yoshihito, a number of prominent Honolulu Japanese arrived home again this afternoon on the T. K. K. liner Chiyo Maru, which docked at Pier 7 shortly after 1 o'clock.

Those arriving included Y. Akagi, Mrs. T. Ebaraki, H. Fujimori, S. Gihō, Mrs. Y. Iijima, T. Katsunuma, S. Kojima, M. Nishigaya, K. Sayegusa, Mrs. T. Takahashi.

Dr. J. W. McGuire, Mrs. W. H. Taylor and Miss H. Taylor were the first cabin passengers for Honolulu. The Asahi baseball team also came back on the Chiyo. Its players were heartily welcomed by a delegation of Honolulu Japanese fans.

The Chiyo sails at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for San Francisco. Although due at 11 o'clock this morning, the Chiyo was two hours late and did not berth at Pier 7 until after 1 o'clock this afternoon. She brought 107 sacks of mail, 13 first-class, seven second and 323 steerage passengers for this port.

"Our through passenger list is the largest we have ever had coming this way," said Purser W. A. Chapman. "We are trying to carry all the passengers the Pacific Mail used to take care of, hence the congestion." The total number of passengers, of all classes on board when the Chiyo docked today, was more than 800. Steerage and second-class alone totaled 614.

Freight for this port was 1800 tons. Capt. Ernst Bent reported an uneventful voyage. The Chiyo left Yokohama November 20.

Mails for the mainland close at 7:30 tomorrow morning at the postoffice.

SHOW UNCLE SAM'S MINT AT "Y" MOVING PICTURES

The first moving picture films ever exhibited at the central Y. M. C. A. will be used tomorrow evening at the meeting of the night school class in Cooke hall. Paul Steel, citizenship educational secretary, has charge of the exhibition of the "movies." The first reel that will be exhibited will be of the work in one of the United States mints. This film was produced by the United States treasury for exhibition purposes. The second film will be a "comic."

Paul Steel has been using the moving picture machine in a number of his visits around the city, but has never exhibited at the central Y. M. C. A. At each meeting at the Japanese and Korean Y. M. C. A. buildings the movie machine has been a feature, and with lantern slides as a further exhibit the educational campaigns have proved to be successful.

NATIONAL GUARD MAKES SOLDIERLY SHOWING AT REVIEW BY GOVERNOR

Troops Show Effect of Hard Drilling and Efficient Handling as They Swing Past

Troops of the 1st Infantry, National Guard of Hawaii, and attached Engineer troops made a splendid showing yesterday when reviewed by Governor Lucius E. Pinkham, commander-in-chief of the Guard. General John P. Wisser, Hawaiian Department, and General Samuel I. Johnson, the adjutant general, were in the reviewing party. The officers passed along the line in an automobile, Lieut. Kimball, aide-de-camp to General Wisser, and U. S. Grant, Jr., being also in the car.

The regiment in line and in double rank extended from the Opera House along Merchant street to the center of Bishop. There were 12 companies of infantry, one engineer company and the hospital corps detachment attached to the 1st Regiment for purposes of the review, and at the head of the line was the 1st Infantry band of 36 pieces.

Governor Pinkham and party returned to the reviewing stand after the inspection and the troops swung into column of squads and marched back of the statue of Kamehameha and turning again into King street, passed the reviewing stand in column of platoons. Richards street was packed with people and the guardsmen returned to the armory along Alaka and then Hotel street.

People Thronged Route. Every part of the march was thronged with people. The sidewalks were lined all along the route, and the crowd was especially dense in front of the reviewing stand in the capitol grounds.

The troops showed the effect of hard drilling and efficient instruction. They marched with precision, and there was no confusion. The nearest to a break that occurred during the whole program of the day happened when a motorcade going Waikiki drove his car past the reviewing stand, forcing the band to turn out and threatening to cut through the entire line of parade, breaking up the review formation. Major Rose saved the day by commanding his battalion to halt and hold their ground, until the car was backed up.

FIVE MORE BOYS MAKE ESCAPE AT REFORM SCHOOL

full pursuit and the principal assisting them.

Fifteen minutes later the first of the truants, a Japanese, was caught. His name is G. Masake, and only the day before he had been returned to the school, after having been given his freedom.

Masake was found hiding in the underbrush and a systematic search of the neighborhood later resulted in the capture of another, whose name could not be understood, in a telephone conversation with Principal Tucker today. The boys still at liberty up to early this afternoon are Roy Pomeroy, James Hamaha and George Williams.

Principal Tucker believes that the escapes are planned by a few of the older boys and that most of the younger chaps simply break and run when they see the others fleeing. A number of the larger lads implicated in the general outbreak of November 21 have been sent to jail. Saturday and yesterday the principal sent S. Maloi, K. Baker and D. Lopez to jail, and David Leleo and George Kahipa had already been taken there.

HESITATES OVER CITIZENSHIP FOR FILIPINOS HERE

The question of whether the naturalization laws of the United States were intended to include natives of the Philippine islands as well as "free white persons and persons of African descent or nativity," has cropped out in the local federal court again, and Judge Sanford B. Dole has taken the matter under advisement.

A petition for naturalization was filed in federal court last Saturday by Marcos Solis, a native of the Philippines, who was honorably discharged from the United States navy. Solis filed his petition under the clause in the naturalization law which provides that honorably discharged soldiers and sailors need not have their names posted for 30 days prior to the hearing of the petition.

As some courts have refused to naturalize Filipinos, Judge Dole took the matter under advisement. The case will come up again at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning.

Further argument on the demurrers filed by Governor Pinkham and Land Commissioner Joshua D. Tucker in the mandamus proceeding brought against them by Circuit Judge T. B. Stuart, was had in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this afternoon.

Subscriptions to the third Australian war loan to date total 300,000,000 crowns.

and the review proceeded. As the band at the head of the line reached the reviewing stand it swung out of line, and while the rest of the troops passed held its station in front of the stand, playing as the regiment passed.

Order of the Troops.

The troops passed the reviewing stand in the following order: Regimental Commander, Lieut.-col. W. R. Riley and staff.

Second Battalion, Major Rose, commanding—Company E, Capt. Charles E. Coster; Company G, Capt. B. K. Kane; Company F, Capt. E. H. Hopkins; Company H, Capt. L. G. Blackman.

Third Battalion, Maj. A. W. Neely, commanding—Company M, 1st Lieut. W. H. Hampton; Company L, Capt. W. M. Ahia; Company K, 1st Lieut. Bostwick; Hospital Corps, Major Kilbourne.

In the reviewing stand with the governor, in addition to those who accompanied him in the automobile, were the following:

NEW BANKING LAW MAKING PANICS THINGS OF PAST

Alden Anderson, Coast Banker, Talks of Benefits of Measure at Commercial Club

Alden Anderson, president of the California National Bank of Sacramento, was the speaker at the Commercial Club luncheon today. Mr. Anderson, who is one of the directors of the San Francisco Reserve Bank, chose for his topic "The Federal Reserve Act and Its Results."

Opening his talk Mr. Alden said that the public should not look upon banks of the nation as private concerns, as the banks are the medium of prosperity. He said that people look upon the postoffice and transportation companies as public institutions and should have the same feeling toward the banks, as they are under government supervision.

"In 1907 the people of the country were forced to a crisis," stated Mr. Anderson. "Conditions in all walks of life were changed and business was at a standstill. The banks worked together and issued paper that proved to be a medium of exchange which tide conditions over from a supposed panic to a normal state of affairs."

In touching upon the federal reserve law Mr. Anderson said that the large New York banks at first opposed the measure, but since its establishment they have found that conditions have improved. Many of the state banks were also opposed to the law but are gradually realizing that the Federal Reserve Act has brought about a condition that will improve the business of the country.

"When the matter of a banking system was first mentioned the federal government thought of establishing a central bank," he said. "This was found to be objectionable to many and it was finally decided to establish 12 reserve banks. When the bill was first introduced it was called the Aldrich-Freeland Bill. At present there are nine directors in each bank and there are 12 banks scattered throughout the country. Three of the directors must be identified with some bank. Three others are selected from outside the banking world, and three are appointed by the federal government."

The head of the Federal Reserve Board consists of three ex-officio members of the government, the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of agriculture and the controller of the treasury. There is no politics mixed up in the board, as it is made up of the members of the San Francisco are Republicans, and they were not picked out for political reasons.

"The reserve on deposit at the San Francisco bank exceeds the amount on deposit at the Bank of France by more than one million dollars. There are funds on hand now in the Federal bank at San Francisco amounting to $357,531,000 which proves that the system established is a success from every standpoint. We are hearing many good things about the system and with the array of banks organized, as they are we may have business depression, but we shall see no great panic under the present system."

At the speaker's table were a number of prominent businessmen including Herbert Fleischacker, president of the Anglo-London Bank of San Francisco; L. Tenney Pool, of the First National Bank of Honolulu; Dr. Frankenhelm of San Francisco; S. Awoki, manager of the Honolulu Yokohama Specie Bank; C. H. Cooke of the Bank of Hawaii; W. F. Frear, E. J. Spaulding of the Bank of Honolulu, and A. W. T. Bottomley of Bishop & Company.

ANGRY BOARDER PUTS DYNAMITE UNDER BED

the cap had slipped from the hole in the dynamite where it is always placed. Only the cap exploded beneath the sleepers.

Caps used in exploding dynamite have a high explosive power and even this served to badly shock the intended victims.

Would Have Wrecked Home. Had the cap remained fixed in the dynamite the entire house and its occupants would have been blown to pieces and no evidence would have remained that Seto was the murderer.

The Japanese man and woman told the detectives that they were sure Seto planned their death, because when they told him they could not keep him longer in their home he threatened them and during Saturday afternoon they saw him lurking near their place several times.

McDuffie attributes the slipping of the cap from the hole in the dynamite hollowed out by Seto's knife to the weight of the fuse, which hung into the cellar and rested on the floor. As long as the weight was on the floor, the cap probably remained in place, but when the fuse burned upward and the weight was thrown on the cap, the cap was dragged out and exploded almost two feet from the dynamite.

Seto has not yet been found by the police. He is described as a man 50 years of age, 4 feet 10 inches tall, has a crooked mouth and cannot close his right eye. It is thought impossible for him to escape.

garia and Turkey. This is fully obtained.

"The operation of the troops under Gen. von Mackensen's command began on October 6. Then Gen. von Kossob's Austro-Hungarian army, reinforced by Germans, started to cross the rivers Drina and Save and Gen. von Gallwitz's army began to cross the Danube near Semendria and Ruzhica.

The Bulgarians started on October 14, when Gen. Boyadoff advanced against the line from Negotin to Pirot, and a second Bulgarian army, under Gen. Teodorov started in the direction of Skopje and Velea.

"Since then the allied Teuton armies crossed the Danube in a short time, although this great enterprise was assailed in the face of the enemy and the untimely outbreak of a dangerous storm. The enemy's frontier fortresses were taken, the Brandenburg reserve army corps and the eighth Austro-Hungarian army corps distinguished themselves at the taking of Belgrade, and Zaycar, Knyalwa and Pirot were conquered by the Bulgarian allies.

"Besides this, the Allies (Teuton-Bulgarian) armies were victorious against the tenacious and brave enemy, who were used to war and assisted by the special nature of the country where the campaigns were being carried on.

"Our advancing armies were never stopped, neither by bottomless roads, nor impassable mountains, which were covered with deep snow, nor lack of shelter nor difficulties of communication with the rear forces.

"More than 100,000 Serbians were captured, which is nearly half of the Serbian army.

"It is impossible to estimate the other Serbian losses, in engagements or by desertion. Enormous quantities of cannon were taken, among which are heavy guns and an amount of war material which it is impossible to estimate.

"The German losses were moderate, although of course, regrettable in themselves. The German armies never suffered from disease."

YESTERDAY'S REPORT.

"The following cablegram from official German sources tells of yesterday's situation:

"German Headquarters Report, Nov. 28.—The pursuit of the Serbians continues. Rudnik, southwest of Mitrovice, has been occupied. The Teutons and Bulgarians have imprisoned more than 2700 Serbians and taken much war material.

"On the west front, in the Neuville district between Arras and Lens, the Germans, after successful blasting, occupied the hole made, taking several prisoners. In several places on the west front there is hand-grenade and mine-throwing and the enemy's artillery has engaged in active artillery exchanges, including the Champagne and Argonne districts.

"On the east front Gen. von Hindenburg's army is near Buschof. Southwest of Jacobstadt an enemy aeroplane was shot down and fell between the German and Russian lines. It was carried off in the night by a German patrol. Russian attacks northwest of Baronowitsch have been repulsed."

TODAY'S SITUATION

The following cablegram from official German sources was received today:

"German Headquarters Report, Nov. 29.—The pursuit of the Serbians continues. More than 1500 have been taken. Up to now 5000 cannon have been captured, among which are a large number of heavy guns.

"The west front weather is bright and freezing and lively artillery duels are in progress there. The aviators are active. North of St. Mihiel the German plane was forced to land and was destroyed by German artillery. In Combines during the last two weeks 22 civilian inhabitants were killed and eight wounded by the fire of the enemy."

"SEE AMERICA FIRST" POPULAR LAST SUMMER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of the Interior Lane announces that travel to America's national parks this year beats all records. Rocky Mountain park received 30,000 visitors its first year; Mesa Verde received 663 as against 52 last year; Yellowstone received 51,820, against 29,350 last year. Altogether all the parks (not including Rocky Mountain) received 158,734, as against 80,901 last year. Secretary Lane declares the policy of permitting automobiles to enter parks is a success and that it will be continued in future.

QUEER TESTS FOR SMOKERS.

At a smoking competition held recently at Brighton, Eng., says the Eastern Herald, the winner kept an eighth of an ounce of tobacco alight for 103 minutes. There was a severe test at Oxford in 1723 on a scaffold over against the theater. Thomas Hearne described the scene:

"The conditions were that any one (man or woman) that could smoke three ounces of tobacco first without drinking or going off the stage should have 12 shillings. Many tried, and it was thought that a journeyman tailor would have been victorious, he smoking faster than and being many pipes before the rest; but at last he was so sick that 'twas thought he would have died, and an old man, that had been a soldier and smoked gently, came off conqueror, smoking the three ounces quite out."

In Derbyshire there was a club where the qualification for membership was the ability to smoke up a pound of shag tobacco at one sitting. A china pot served as pipe, and the candidate smoked through the spout.

ROSE WILL PAY SOME ATTENTION TO GRAND JURY

Sheriff Refuses to Comment on Report on Jail Probe; Will Not Outline Action

"Yes, of course I'll pay some attention to the grand jury report," said Sheriff C. H. Rose this morning. "Any report is worth some attention. I think I know what the grand jury wants done."

"As to what I think of the report I have not a word to say." The sheriff absolutely refused to comment, and when the opinion was ventured in his presence that the report did not lead anywhere and appeared not to either exonerate or blame him, he sat back with a half smile and looked at the speaker. But he would not venture any opinion.

However, it was learned from other sources at headquarters that the report is regarded as rather satisfactory to the police department and jail officials, who consider it an exoneration, and say it was just what they expected.

Sheriff Rose declines to say whether or not he will put into effect the recommendation of the grand jury concerning restricting jail visitors to persons having passes issued from his office.

No further investigation of conditions at the county jail is likely to be promoted by either Mayor Lane or any of the supervisors. The mayor stated today that he is willing to take the word of the grand jury as final in the matter.

"When a body of this nature makes decision in a question after careful investigation it is not up to us to go further, even if we thought there were grounds for it," says the mayor. "For my part I am satisfied with the report and believe it is sufficient."

Supervisor Robert Hume says that so far as he is concerned nothing will be done further in the matter by the police committee of which he is chairman.

"I have all the faith in the world in the personnel of the grand jury, and when the members make a report on some question which they have been investigating, I am willing to let it abide," he says.

"Men on the jury have given careful study and much time to this investigation, and what are we supervisors that we should question them?"
